The News.

The steamship City of Washington, with Liverpool dates to the 24th ult., has arrived. Her news is unimportant. It was rumored in England that Lord NAPIER had been re-called from his mission at Washington, and Mr. LYONS, now at Florence, appointed as his successor. The Liverpool breadstuffs market remained dull and unchanged.

The President's Message did not arrive last night, as was expected. We shall be enabled, undoubtedly, to lay it before our readers in the next issue.

The Republicans of New York city have gained a glorious victory over both factions of the Democracy.

There was no change in the New York breadstuffs market yesterday, but pork was firm.—The same may be said of our own market.

Yesterday was a cold day, the thermometer being 8 degrees below zero in the morning. It moderated somewhat towards night, but was still cold enough.

Great Republican Triumph in New York City!

The Charter Election in the city of New York on Tuesday last, resulted in the most signal overthrow of the Sham Democracy, and a decisive triumph for the Opposition. Mr. HAWS, the Republican candidate for Comptroller, who was also supported by the American and People's party, has three thousand majority over the combined Democratic vote. The Republicans also elect Dr. CHARLES BRUNIGHAUSEN, a leading German physician, as their candidate for Governor of the Alms House, and a majority of the Aldermen and School Officers. This revolution in the city of New York even exceeds the results in Berks County, Pennsylvania, and in our own city of Milwaukee.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF MICHIGAN.—The following is the official vote of Michigan for Members of Congress, at the late election:

First District.

W. A. Howard, R,	13,048
Geo. B. Cooper, D,	13,123—Cooper's maj.	75

Second District.

Henry Waldron, R,	14,655
Consider A. Stuyvesant, D,	10,137—Waldron "	4,518

Third District.

F. W. Kellogg, R,	21,950
T. B. Church, D,	17,438—Kellogg "	4,512

Fourth District.

D. W. C. Leach, R,	16,138
R. W Davis, D,	14,915—Leach "	1,222

Aggregate Republican majority on Congress, 10,176. Ditto, on State ticket, 10,514. Total vote polled, 121,250, about 5,000 more than were polled in this State.

THE ASSUMPTION IN DODGE CO.—The Board of Supervisors of Dodge Co., where a large number of farm mortgagors reside, adopted the following resolutions, unanimously, at its recent session:

Resolved, That the proposition to issue State Bonds for the City, County, Town and Farm Mortgage Bonds issued to aid in the construction of Railroads in the State, is calculated to work the grossest injustice to the whole State, and if adopted, to depreciate the value of the property of the State to a much larger amount than the whole sum proposed to be assumed. Therefore,

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of Dodge County do hereby enter their protest against any such project, and request our Representatives in the Legislature to oppose any such measure if brought before either house for its adoption, and that the Clerk of this Board furnish to each of our members of Assembly and to our Senator a copy of these resolutions.

"AN UNWISE CHANGE."—Under this head, the Madison Argus & Democrat has the following allusion to the recent change in the U. S. Collector's Office in this city:

We regret to learn that Moritz Schoefler, the able and honest editor of the Milwaukee Banner, has been turned out of the collectorship of Milwaukee and Geo. W. Classen has been appointed. The change is a very unwise one indeed. It deprives the public of a faithful servant and an efficient officer, to confer a reward upon one who has no claims except those of an inveterate beggar for office.

SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN FROM RACINE.—The Racine Daily News of yesterday, gives the following, as the total shipments of Flour and Grain from that port, during the season of navigation just closed. It is an increase on previous years, though how much the News does not say:

Wheat, bushels,	913,376
Oats,	59,426
Corn,	9,686
Barley,	46,279
Rye,	2,200
Flax Seed,	899
Flour, 9,951 bbls., equal to	48,755
Total,	1,082,621

STUDENT DROWNED.—The Madison papers inform us that C. H. BRACKETT, a step-son of Dr. O.W. MAY, of the Water Cure, and one of the students at the University, broke through the ice on the Lake, while skating Monday afternoon, and was drowned. The body was recovered, but the spark of life was extinct.

GREAT SALE OF WOOL AT AUCTION.—One of the largest sales of Wool that has been made in Boston for many years, took place yesterday at 27 Central wharf, John Tyler, auctioneer. The entire lot consisted of 2,500 bales, being parts of invoices imported during the past two years by Trull Brothers, of this city. The magnitude of the sale attracted a large number of buyers, not only from our State, but Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

The bidding was spirited, and prices obtained rather above the average, and by some considered high. It was remarked by one gentleman at the sale, a large broker in wool, that he would be pleased to duplicate the sales. We give below some of the principa lots, their quality and prices:

Unwashed 2d Smyrna, 101 bales,		10c
" " 83 bales,		9½c
" " 40 bales,		10½c
" Fine Smyrna, 510 bales,		13a15½c
" Russian, 148 bales,		8½-9c
Smyrna Black, White and Grey, 126 bales,		7¾a10c
Washed Angora,		17½c
Washed Smyrna, White,		17½c
Washed Sfax,		27½c

The above sale may in a measure indicate the tone of the market. Wool of all kinds, foreign and domestic, is held at firm prices.—Boston Traveler, 2d.

OBITUARY.—It is with painful feelings that we announce to our readers the sudden death of one of our County's most esteemed citizens, Daniel Smith, of Mishicot, was attacked night before last with disease of the heart and within a short time has ceased to exist. It is seldom that we are called upon to chronicle a more startling event, for the decease of Mr. Smith will be regarded as a public calamity. One of the oldest citizens in the County, his generous hospitality, genial temperament, and kind disposition, made him known far and wide, and he was respected by all.—Manitowoc Tribune, Dec. 4.

THE FORFEITED LAND SALES.—The land sales are very well attended, and the lands go off briskly. A large majority of the tracts go for about 25 per cent advance on the appraisal.

Singular as it may appear, the old speculation in school lands seems to be reviving.—Madison Argus, Dec. 7.

Arrest of a Rail Road Ticket Swindler.

For several months past pretty much all of the Rail Road Companies in our State have had returned to them, from time to time, for redemption, more coupon tickets from roads East than were called for by their own accounts of sales.—These discrepancies were the more annoying that no care, or vigilance seemed effectual in guarding against them, and that all attempts to detect the error, proved unavailing. It was evident that there must be foul play somewhere, but it seemed impossible to ferret it out. The matter at length assumed such proportions that a rigid investigation was determined upon. Mr. J. B. SMITH, President of the Milwaukee & Horicon Rail Road, (which was among the sufferers by the mysterious swindle) put the business in the hands of Sheriff PAGE.

Mr. PAGE, immediately went to work and after four weeks persevering and searching enquiry, succeeded on Tuesday in tracing up the fraud and arresting the perpetrator. He proved to be a young man named JOHN NEWMAN, a native of Maine, who has resided in this City and Madison, for a year or more past, and has been employed as a Freight Agent on the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad. This position gave him access to the offices of the different Railroad Companies, and he improved the opportunity to steal bundles of coupon tickets. These he would sell, from time to time, to strangers on their way east; being always very careful not to dispose of them to any of our own citizens who might be likely to remember of whom they had purchased their tickets. In this way he no doubt expected to baffle detection and yet the guilt was finally fastened upon him by the testimony of an eastern man, who remembered having bought tickets from him.

When arrested by the Sheriff, NEWMAN had a large package of Coupon tickets, through from Fond du Lac to New York, on his person. This and other circumstances made the case so clear that NEWMAN at once confessed the whole. He is not over 25 years of age and has a wife to share in his criminal disgrace. The detection of the fraud is quite a relief to the Railroad Companies, which had been much annoyed and perplexed by the discrepancies in the Coupon tickets.

ORPHAN ASYLUM FESTIVAL—LAST DAY.—The Annual Festival of the Milwaukee Protestant Orphan Association commenced yesterday, at Albany Hall, and will close to day. The display of useful and ornamental articles is large and attractive, and the attendance yesterday, especially in the evening, was very satisfactory.—Soon after mid-day an excellent dinner was served up, of which a good many of our Merchants and Business Men partook. The bill of fare included a great variety of dishes, and the cooking was as excellent, as the attendance was unexceptionable. This feature of the entertainment will be repeated to-day, so don't forget to go and dine at Albany Hall between 12 and 2 o'clock. In the evening, Mrs. ANDERSON will dispense her delicious ices, the American Cornet Band will furnish the best of music, everybody will be at the Hall to see everybody else, and a lively and pleasant time may be anticipated.—Remember, the Festival closes to-night!

CITY CONVENTION—NEW CHARTER.—The committee appointed to draft the new Charter are notified to meet at the Common Council Room, this, Thursday, morning, at 10 o'clock. It is to be hoped that they will be punctual in their attendance and promptly finish up the work.

ENGINE CO. NO. 1—HOUSE-WARMING.—The Members of Milwaukee Engine Co. No. 1, with their invited guests, have a house-warming at their new quarters on Main street, this evening at 8 o'clock. No doubt the boys will have a good time.

AMERICAN CORNET BAND.—This fine Band which is now led by Capt. ALEX. SCOTT, have generously volunteered to play in the Albany Hall this evening, being the last night of the Orphan Festival. This will prove an additional attraction, and help to fill the Hall full.

☞ This morning CALEB WALL has a large sale of Toys and other Christmas notions. Read his advertisement of a sale of furs which commences again on Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Closing of the Milwaukee River.

The River was completely frozen over yesterday morning, and it is very likely that it will not be open again until spring—that is above the Walker's Point bridge; below that the action of the Lake will keep it open for a long time yet, if not all through the winter.

The following table shows the dates upon which the Milwaukee River has been closed with ice for the past 23 years:

1836,	November	20th,	1847,	November,	25th
1837,	"	25th	1848,	"	30th
1838,	"	15th	1849,	December,	6th
1839,	"	21st	1850,	"	6th
1840,	"	17th	1851,	"	18th
1841,	"	26th	1852,	"	19th
1842,	"	17th	1853,	"	20th
1843,	December,	1st	1854,	"	4th
1844,	November	25th	1855,	"	15th
1845,	"	27th	1856,	"	3rd
1846,	December,	8th	1857,	November,	20th
			1858,	December,	8th

The mean or average of the above dates is November 30th, from which it will be seen that the closing of the River this year is nine days later than the mean date.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION OF POISONING A MAN FOR HIS MONEY—PERILOUS CONDITION OF THE VICTIM.—Some six weeks ago a fur trader of Ottawa, Ill., named BENJAMIN LEET, purchased a quantity of meat and provisions here, and went on a trading voyage to various places along the Lake Shore between this port and Mackinaw, taking with him, as an assistant, it is believed, a man named E. STEWART WILSON. They traveled from one port to another, on different boats, at times to suit their convenience, and finally disposed of all the goods at Mackinaw, where LEET was taken very suddenly ill and soon became speechless. WILSON took passage for the sick man and himself on the propeller Michigan, which touched at Mackinaw on her way up, and arrived here day before yesterday. Observing the condition of LEET, together with something in the manner of his companion, led the Captain of the Michigan to suspect that he had been foully dealt with, and upon arriving here he related the circumstances to the Chief of Police.—The latter had WILSON immediately arrested and lodged in jail to await further developments.

A circumstance which weighs heavily against WILSON, is the fact that when he left here in company with LEET, he was known to be in very reduced circumstances, not having money to pay what he owed for board, and when arrested upwards of $110 in gold were found on his person, and $40 in gold were found in possession of his wife. At present, however, there is considerable mystery about the affair, and we forbear further comment until a legal examination is had.

LEET is in such a condition that it is thought he cannot possibly live. He has not been able to speak for four or five days, and the physicians who have seen him are of the opinion that poison has been given him. He was carried from the propeller, to a tavern in the Third Ward, where he is receiving medical attention, and a telegraph has been sent to his brother at Ottawa.

THE TEMPORARY HOME FOR CHILDREN.—The "Temporary Home for Children," as has been reported, is for the relief of children who have no one to provide for them during the coming winter. A house has been secured with accommodations for as many children as there shall be means to provide for in other respects. A man and his wife will be employed to take care of the house, and assist, by whatever means they are able, to promote the objects of the institution. There will also be a responsible committee to take charge of each department, as follows: A committee to visit the families from which the children are taken; another to provide suitable food; another to furnish the house; another to attend to the clothing, and one to take charge of the teaching. There will also be a Sabbath school on Sundays, and an evening school once a week.

The conditions on which children will be taken are as follows: If a child has parents, they shall sign a release of the child for five months, to prevent parents from claiming their children as soon as they are comfortably clothed. If children are taken from houses of prostitution, they will be received if not over eight years of age. Children who have no homes, parents, or guardians, will be received unconditionally. On the other hand, the "Home" pledges to provide for the children in a comfortable and suitable manner.

An office will be open to receive applications for the present, at 136 E. W. street. When application is made, the name and residence of the applicant will be entered in a book, and some of the visiting committee will see the family as soon as practicable. It is expected that the institution will go in operation by the 13th of this month. AGENT OF THE "HOME"

Sure we are, where ever his countrymen are to be found, (and where are they not,) the day will be remembered as it deserves to be. Our citizens who hail from the "land o' cakes," will not be behind in keeping up the memory of Scotland's great poet.

THE ATHENÆUM.—Shakespeare's great play of "Romeo and Juliet" was played at the Athenæum last night. Mr. JOHNSON appearing as Friar Lawrence, Mr. RILEY as Romeo, and Miss IRVING as Juliet. Miss IRVING played in her usual spirit, and Mr. RILEY also did well, while JOHNSON, in his character, could not easily have been excelled.

This evening they play the great drama of "Dreams and Realities," with the capital farce of the "Thumping Legacy" for an afterpiece.

THE LADIES' HOME MAGAZINE

EDITED BY T. S. ARTHUR, AND
Miss Virginia F. Townsend.
VOLUMES THIRTEEN AND FOURTEEN.

IN announcing the Volumes of the HOME MAGAZINE for 1859, the publishers cannot but refer to the significant fact, that, while nearly every other literary periodical in the country lost ground during 1858, under the depressing influence of the times, THE HOME MAGAZINE INCREASED IN CIRCULATION BEYOND ANY PREVIOUS YEAR! A fact like this needs no comment—it speaks for itself; and we only remark, on presenting it, that it has encouraged us in the work of preparing a Magazine for the HOMES OF THE PEOPLE, that shall come to both parents and children as a true and welcome friend, more than anything that has occurred since the initial number went forth.

Our Magazine will continue under the same editorial supervision as before, and its pages continue to be largely supplied from the editor's pen. Other writers of ability will aid in the task of producing a periodical which is designed to meet a want that no other work has attempted as broadly to supply. Besides the Literary Department, there will be, as heretofore, in each number—a Mother's Department; a Health Department; a Boys' and Girls' Treasury; a Toilette and Work Table; Hints for Housekeepers; and an Editorial Department.

Reliable Colored Fashion Plates and fine Steel Engravings, besides an almost endless variety of Needlework Patterns, will continue to be given. In a word, the Home Magazine shall be all that its name implies; while in style of embellishment and beauty of typography it will not be exceeded by any Magazine of its kind in the country.

The admirers of Miss Townsend will be pleased to learn that she will commence in the January number, a new story, entitled, "WAIT AND SEE," to be continued through six or seven numbers of the Magazine. Those who have read her "LOOK OUT," need not be reminded of the pleasure that is in store for them.

TERMS.—One copy, for one year, $2; two copies for one year, $3; four copies for one year, $5. All additional subscribers above four at the same rate, that is, $1,25 per annum. Where twelve subscribers and $15 are sent, the getter up of the club will be entitled to an additional copy of the Magazine. Specimens furnished to all who wish to subscribe and make up clubs.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.

Tribune's Correspondence.—Certain Administration Senators have in contemplation a stringent bill for the suppression of bigamy in Utah. The same thing will be attempted in the House, when the Utah land question comes up.

Lord Napier had a long interview with Mr. Cass to-day.

Horace H. Clark and Mr. Vance, the new administration members from North Carolina, have taken their seats on the Opposition side of the House.

The French and English legation manifest a lively interest in the Spanish American portions of the President's message.

From the Plains.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8,

The New Mexican mail with Santa Fe dates to the 15th ult., reached Independence on the 6th. News unimportant.

A letter from Mr. Yost, dated Alburquerque, giving a summary of the Navajoe war, closed with the following language. "The cry is for men, volunteers must be called out, and I hear no dissenting voice to this anywhere."

New York Charter Election, &c.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.

Our charter election yesterday, resulted as follows: Hawe, Rep, and American, is chosen Comptroller, he having 32,000, to 13,000 for Forster, the Tammany candidate, and 11,000 for Russel, anti-Tammany Democrat. Of the nine Aldermen voted for and elected, five are Republicans, and four Tammanymen. Chas. Brunnighausen, Rep, and Isaac Townsend, dem., are elected Alms House Governors. Of the school officers, a majority are Republicans. Councilmen vote too meager to indicate the result.

The Africa sailed at 10 o'clock with 60 passengers, and nearly $200,000 in specie.

The Police Commissioners received information last evening, that an attempt was to be made by certain individuals to burn the Comptroller's office. A large force of Policemen were on guard all night.

New counterfeit fives, on the Layton Bank of Lyon, Mass, were put in circulation here last evening.

An action for libel has been commenced by John Griffin, against the proprietors of the Daily News. The alleged libelous matter was contained in an electioneering handbill distributed yesterday, in which complainant is denounced as a common slanderer and originator of the reports derogatory to the character of Mr. Russell, anti-Tammany candidate for comptroller.

The Fillibusters Afloat, but Overhauled.

MOBILE, Dec. 6.

The schooner Susan, Capt. Morey, sailed from this port yesterday, with 140 passengers and well provisioned, without a clearance, under pretence of being bound on a cruising voyage. Before reaching Mobile Point, she was overhauled by an armed boat from the cutter McLelland, and stopped. The passengers on board the Susan threatened the cutter men with violence, and refused to allow them to board her. Our Collector is awaiting instructions from Washington.

Much indignation is felt by the fillibusters and their friends. The government spy, Wilson, of Ohio, has left the city very suddenly on discovering that there was a disposition on the part of some individuals, to give him a coat of tar and feathers.

Mr. Withers, our present Mayor, has been re elected.

The Slaver Echo Case.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Dec. 7.

The argument in the slaver Echo case, was continued yesterday, by Gen. Hayne, on the part of the United States; to-day, Mr. Billinger argued for the defence, and when he concluded, the Grand Jurors were further discharged until 1 o'clock, Thursday, upon which, on motion for the discharge of the prisoner, will be given.

A Palpable "Hit."

The News of yesterday anxiously inquires "who was hit" by the statement in the Sentinel, that the gentlemen from the Rural Districts, who attended the last Debt Assumption meeting in this city, were liberally brought in by the Rail Roads, free of charge. The question of the News is quite superfluous. It is sufficiently evident from its columns, "who is hit," and why — The outcry of the News on the subject, in its Sunday issue, and the repetition of the clamor in yesterday's paper, leaves no doubt on this point. Our readers may wish to see what answer the News makes to the statement which has worried it so dreadfully. Here are some samples:

When the Sentinel learns to discuss a proposition, without impugning the motives of those who differ with it, we shall conclude that the ostensible editor of that paper has relieved himself of an influence, which is steadily, but certainly, dragging him down to an unenviable position. There was neither a reasonable excuse, nor the slightest provocation, for insinuating that the gentlemen who came in here from the country to attend that meeting, "were brought into town free of charge." It was a mean and dastardly insinuation. Is it possible that the editor of a leading paper of the commercial metropolis of the State, on seeing a party of gentlemen arrive from the "rural districts," conceives it his duty to ascertain whether or not they were brought free of charge? Suppose they were, or were not, whose business is it? It was an insult to them, to inquire upon what terms they "were brought into town." They conducted their deliberations here with open doors, and demeaned themselves in an orderly and gentlemanly manner. Is not that sufficient to protect them from insult and abuse in the columns of the Sentinel?

With much more of the same sort—to all of which rhodomontade the Sentinel briefly replies thus: 1st, that we have impugned no motives; are very well content to compare the Sentinel "influence," on this subject, with that of the News; and labor under no serious apprehension of being "dragged down to an unenviable position," for opposing what we believe to be a measure fraught with the most injurious consequences to our City and State.

2nd. That we made no insinuation whatever against "the gentlemen who came in here from the country to attend the meeting," but stated a fact, which the News has not yet had the face to deny.

3rd. That we do not conceive it to be our duty and never trouble ourselves to inquire, whether a party of gentlemen from the rural districts are brought in free on the Rail Roads, or entertained free at the Hotels—not even if they are editors. Whether they were, or not, it is clearly nobody's "business," but their own.

4. That we never asked "upon what terms they were brought to town," and of course, therefore, did not "insult" them.

5. That they did deliberate "with open doors," and behaved themselves perfectly well while here; which facts, however, were entirely superfluous as a protection "from insult and abuse in the columns of the Sentinel," inasmuch as the Sentinel never dreamed of offering them either.

6. That it is a piece of small impertinence in the News to speak of "the ostensible Editor" of the Sentinel, and that there was "neither a reasonable excuse, nor the slightest provocation" for this "mean and dastardly insinuation."

Lastly, that the News, by its absurd and hypocritical clamor, has only drawn more attention and given additional significance to the fact stated by the Sentinel; upon which fortunate result of its labors, we beg leave to felicitate it.

Difficulties of the Discussion.

That portion of the Wisconsin press which advocates the Assumption Scheme complains of unfairness on the part of those who oppose it.—The News, in particular, seems ill satisfied with the manner and progress of the discussion, and finds great fault with the course pursued by the anti-Assumption journals. Thus, in yesterday's issue, the News says:

They do not meet the proposition fairly, but conjure up some bugbear of their own, and then attempt to palm it off upon the community, as the assumption scheme. There is no proposition before the public for the assumption of Rail road liabilities, and, yet it is assumed by many, that such is the proposition. No one proposes that the State shall pay one dollar of the liabilities incurred by cities, counties and farmers, in constructing railroads, but it is represented by the press very generally, that the projectors of the scheme contemplate the payment of every dollar of that indebtedness by the State.

The opponents of the project will not, and dare not discuss the consequences which must result to the State, if the relief prayed for is not granted.

It will be quite time enough to "discuss the consequences" of not adopting the scheme proposed, after we have finished with the scheme itself. And we do not see how the News can rightfully complain that the opponents of assumption "do not meet the proposition fairly," when, only a few days since, in reply to our suggestion to the new committee on a plan, that they should mature and publish it, in black and white, as soon as might be, the News pronounced this "bad advice," and urged the committee to leave the fashioning of the plan to the Legislature. It is obvious that just so long as the public and press are left in the dark as to what specific proposition is to be brought forward, full and fair discussion is impossible. Generalities and speculations, on the one side, will be met by generalities and speculations on the other.

"The relief prayed for" is a non-committal phrase which may mean anything, or nothing—Debt-assumption, Debt-extension or Debt-repudiation. How is it possible to "meet a proposition fairly," which is carefully withheld from the public eye? Or how could any attempt to "palm off" "a bugbear" upon the community, as "the Assumption scheme," be successful if we had the scheme itself before us, principle and details? If there is any misapprehension in the popular mind, as to the nature of the Assumption Scheme or any playing at cross purposes among the disputants pro and con, the fault is with those who originated the project, but withhold the details essential to a correct understanding.

CLERK OF THE SENATE.—The Free Democrat has the following notice of one of the prominent candidates for Clerk of the Senate:

We have heard the name of J. W. Strong, of Beloit, mentioned by several for Chief Clerk of the Senate. Mr. Strong has had considerable experience in connection with deliberative bodies, which would make the duties of Chief Clerk come easy to him, and moreover he has natural abilities for such duties, which are not often excelled. He is also a thorough Republican, and a worker in the ranks. Should he be chosen, we are confident the duties of the place will be admirably performed.

Without desiring to prejudice the claims of other deserving aspirants for this office, we feel bound to endorse what is said above of Mr. STRONG's merits and qualifications.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE.—Massachusetts, with a total vote of 120,000, has eleven members of Congress, while Illinois, with a vote of 252,000, has but nine.—Chicago Times.

WISCONSIN, with a total vote within a fraction of that cast by MASSACHUSETTS, has only three Representatives in Congress, to eleven from the Old Bay State. Compared with the votes of North and South Carolina, Virginia, &c., the discrepancy is still greater. The Census of 1860 and the new apportionment, will partly right the matter.

The Paraguay Expedition.

Two war steamers—the Atalanta and Caledonia—left this port on Wednesday last for the purpose of joining the squadron that is to rendezvous at Buenos Ayres, and that is destined to act against Paraguay. They will first land Gen. Ecay and the Venezuelan Commissioners, who are now on board as guests of the nation, at Leguayra, and then they will make the rest of their way to Buenos Ayres. When they arrive there they will probably find the squadron in full force. The only vessels of the squadron that they have left behind them are the Matacomet and the M. W. Chapin (and these were to have sailed from Philadelphia yesterday), the Memphis, that went into commission yesterday at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and that they will be ready to sail in about a week hence, and the steamers Canada and America, that are now at Greenpoint, Williamsburg, undergoing repairs and alterations. These last will also be fitted out for sea with all despatch, and sent to join the rendezvous at Buenos Ayres.

There will be then collected in that harbor the largest squadron that has ever floated under the American flag, if we except that which was stationed in the Gulf of Mexico during our war with that Republic. It will consist of the following vessels:

	Officers.	Men.	Guns.
Frigate Sabine	45	500	50
Frigate St. Lawrence	45	500	50

The fleet is commanded by Commodore Shubrick—the senior captain in our navy. He is a very old man, having entered the navy fifty-three years ago, most of his time during the last thirty years having been spent loafing on shore.—The fire and vigor of robust manhood are out of him. He has never seen or performed any naval service worth mentioning, and we cannot discover that he has ever smelled hostile gunpowder, in his life. But his immense old age, and South Carolina nativity, recommend him to the favor of the fussy old gentleman about the White House.

Buchanan called the attention of Congress to our difficulties with Paraguay, in his last annual message, enumerating our grievances and asking Congress for authority to punish her.

There was but little discussion on the subject in either branch of the national Congress. The following is the joint resolution under the authority of which the expedition has been fitted out:

A RESOLUTION FOR THE ADJUSTMENT OF DIFFICULTIES WITH THE REPUBLIC OF PARAGUAY.

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that, for the purpose of adjusting the difference between the United States and the Republic of Paraguay, in connection with the attack on the United States steamer Water Witch, and with other matters referred to in the annual message of the President, he be, and is hereby, authorized to adopt such measures and use such force as in his judgment may be necessary and advisable, in the event of a refusal of just satisfaction by the government of Paraguay.

Approved June 2, 1858.

An American Dentist

Dr. Brewster was from New York, a dentist of remarkable skill, though that skill had not been appreciated in New York. He went over to Paris and there amused himself until his funds were exhausted. As a remedy for an empty purse, one of his friends suggested that he should open a dentist's room. He did so, and soon had the mouths of all the rank and fashion of Paris under his control, and as he really was a good dentist, he deserved the praises he received. The most important event of his career was his summons to St. Petersburgh to attend to the teeth of the Emperor Nicholas. The Countess Lieven, a famous female diplomatist in the pay of the Russian Government, during her residence in Paris, wrote to the Czar, recommending Dr. Brewster's skill, and was herself the messenger to communicate to the dentist the request of Nicholas. Here was manifested the Yankee self estimation and independence of the Doctor. He assured her that it would be impossible for him to leave Paris until the fashionable season was over; that he could but spend one month with the Emperor, as he must resume himself during the holidays at his own residence at Dieppe; and that his terms were, all expenses paid and $2,000 placed to his banking account before he left Paris. That was another "Yankee trick" of his—to be well paid and that in advance. He felt himself to be as high in his own department as the Czar was in his.

The Yankee dentist went to St. Petersburgh, had the use of a splendid palace assigned him—was attended by a numerous retinue—went to all the court balls and parties, and gave magnificent entertainments in his own palace, all at the Emperor's expense. In the mean time he had an immense practice as a dentist, the Empress and all the court being his customers. He declined to receive money, but was amply remunerated by rich presents.

The month was near the end, and beyond that month he was determined not to remain. He had not as yet looked into the Czar's mouth. So he wrote to the Emperor stating that his month was nearly up and that he could not stay beyond it. The reply of the Emperor is reported to have run thus:

"The Emperor laments that he has caused the slightest uneasiness to Dr. Brewster, dentist.—The Emperor has been prevented from seeing him professionally, by the pressure of affairs almost as important, as he believes, as any Dr. B. can have attended to at Paris. The Emperor will receive Dr. Brewster, at 10 to-morrow, if entirely convenient to him."

Brewster attended, of course, and after a hard day's work, left the Emperor's teeth in fine condition. The Czar, being highly pleased, begged his acceptance of an order of $1,500 in addition, saying to him that if he had not been an American, he should have offered him instead the Order of the Black Eagle. Brewster told the Emperor he preferred the Order Yankee-like, he knew that, at Paris and elsewhere, it would earn more money for him than the $1,500. The Emperor gave him both. Brewster went back to Paris, wearing the Order, and adding to his own sign and cards, "Dentist: Extraordinary to his Imperial Majesty, Nicholas I, of Russia."

The same Countess Lieven, now Princess, at Paris, sent for the dentist one day to repair her teeth. The Doctor wrote in return, "Dr. Brewster informs the Princess Lieven that he visits nobody except Royalty and the Italian Opera Singers." This reply is quite as French as it is Yankee. The Yankee dentist conquered, however, and the Russian Princess, whose life had been spent among the diplomatists of Europe, herself the chief, went to the independent dentist and had her teeth renovated.

MANAGEMENT OF BOATS IN A BROKEN SEA.—The Royal National Life-boat Institution has issued the following circular to its branches in respect to the proper management of boats when running to the shore in a heavy broken sea. It is hoped that the boatmen of our coast and particularly life-boat coxswains, will pay particular attention to the practical remarks contained in the circular:—"Although the proper management of a boat when running before a broken sea to the shore is well understood at many parts of the coast, yet as mismanagement or carelessness under such circumstances is still the cause of many boats being upset by "broaching to," the committee of the National Life-boat Institution, think it important to call the attention of all their life-boats' crews to the cause of such accidents, and to the proper modes of preventing them, as indisputably proved by experience.—The cause of a boat's "broaching to," is the propelling her rapidly before the sea, whether by sails or oars, instead of checking her speed and allowing each successive sea to pass her on its approach. There is therefore extreme danger at all times in running a boat with speed before a heavy broken sea in shoal water. Excepting when the beach is steep, the safer management of a rowing boat in a really heavy sea is to back her, stern foremost to the shore, keeping her bows pointed to the seas, and propelling her slightly against each sea until it has passed her or is under her stern. If a boat is rowed to the shore with her stern to seaward, her oars should then be regularly backed, so as to stop her way on the approach of each wave; and way should not again be given until the wave has passed to the bow, and her position thereby retained on the outer or safe side of the wave. This treatment runs exactly counter to the general desire to get quickly over the apprehended danger; but it is the only safe mode by which a boat can be taken to the shore before a heavy broken surf.

THE MORTARA MEETING.—The abduction of Edgar, son of the Israelite Mortara, in Bologna, which has excited so much comment all over the world, was the occasion on Saturday night of the largest mass meeting of our Jewish residents ever held in this city, and the only public meeting held by this people in this city outside the synagogues since the Damascus excitement in 1840. A series of resolutions were passed, which denounced the abduction in the strongest terms. Addresses were made by the President, Jonas N. Phillips, Rev. Dr. Raphall, Rev. Dr. Isaacs, Rev. Mr. Jacobs, Chauncey Shaffer, and others.—N. Y. Courier, Dec. 6.

From Russia.

The Grand Dukes on their Travels—Improvements in Russia—Gigantic Railway.

Correspondence of the New York Times.

ST. PETERSBURG, NOV. 12, 1858.

The youthful Grand Dukes, Nicholas and Michael—brothers of the Emperor—continue their travels in the south eastern parts of the Empire. They were, at last accounts, at Poti, a city on the borders of the Caucasus, every day increasing in population and importance. The young Princes arrived on board the steamer Tzaman, and were received at the landing by Prince Bariatinsky, Lieutenant of the Emperor in the Caucasus, and by repeated salutes of artillery. The Grand Duke assisted at the dinner offered them by the Georgian nobility, which took place in an immense tent, elegantly decorated for the occasion, on the banks of the Rion. At nightfall the surrounding landscape was illuminated by numerous bonfires on all the neighboring hilltops. In the midst of this scene, the steamer Ackerman came gliding down the river from Kodory, her masts and decks beautifully illuminated with hundreds of colored paper lanterns, adding much to the brilliancy of the spectacle. The next morning, at 8 o'clock, the Grand Dukes embarked on board the Ackerman, and sailed up the Rion, between crowds of people assembled on either bank of the stream to salute the distinguished visitors. The parti colored dress and noisy enthusiasm of the inhabitants rendered this scene as novel and picturesque as that of the preceding evening. Upon arriving at Kodory, the young princes left in a carriage for Kouteis, which they reached at midnight, after having been greeted throughout their trip with the liveliest demonstrations of respect and affection.

Since I have been here, I have frequently noticed a high scaffolding erected around the tower of the Cathedral of Petropaulow-ki, located in the fortress on one of the islands, in which are interred the remains of the Emperors, from Peter the Great to Nicholas. The scaffolding has at length been removed, the work of elevating the spire upon the cathedral having been completed—and a most beautiful, gossamer like spire it is. At a short distance, the effect of this slender arrow, glowing in the sun, is even finer than that of the famous cupola of St. Isaac's mentioned in one of my previous letters. The spire is of immense height, and composed entirely of metallic substances, the whole covered with burnished copper. It is the first time, I believe, that a work of this nature has been executed of metals only; and the architect, Mr. Jouravsky, deserves great praise, both for the originality of the design and the admirable manner in which it has been carried out.

There is considerable talk just now, in official circles in St. Petersburg, of a project about to be carried into effect, whose object will be to ameliorate the condition of the lesser employees of the Government. The clerks in the various departments are miserably paid—probably worse than in any other capital in the civilized world. To begin the experiment, the salaries of all the clerks in the departments of the Treasury and of Justices are to be doubled, perhaps trebled. A portion of the thirty millions derived from this year's sale of the liquor contracts will be appropriated to this purpose. I have this information from an excellent source, and for the sake of the employees themselves, hope it may be true. It may have the effect of putting a stop to the bribery and peculation to which they are driven in order to eke out a subsistence for themselves and their families.

Upon the bare salaries paid them at present, it is utterly impossible for them to live in any decent community; much less in this most expensive city. Another project seriously entertained is the formation of a company of stockholders, with a capital of forty millions of roubles, who will undertake to furnish the Russian army with all its provisions. This question of supplies has been for some time in agitation, by the departments of War and the Navy, and they are still endeavoring to find a means of avoiding the depredations of the commissariat, which, during the last war, were discovered to be carried on to an incredible extent. The sutlers of the army in the Crimea presented numerous accounts of supplies never furnished, and succeeded in robbing the treasury of millions.

A Mr. Lubansky has lately published a pamphlet, in which he boldly proposes the construction of a gigantic Railroad, destined to unite central Asia with Europe, by crossing the whole of Russia. The western terminus of this mighty undertaking would be Warsaw, whence the road would continue along the Austrian frontier, passing by Lublin and Radziwillof, thence to Kieff, Karkoff and Novotcherkask, on the borders of the Sea of Azoff; continuing thence, by branches, one to Taman, (opposite to Kertch) and the other to Stavropol, Derbent and Tiflis. There is no doubt that the direction laid down in the plan is well chosen, but what has hitherto rendered the realization of the idea very improbable has been the enormous amount of capital required to insure the completion of the work.—Mr. Lubansky promises us a second edition of his pamphlet, in which he will discuss this question, and endeavor to overcome the little difficulty which stands in the way of an otherwise very rational plan. But railroads several thousand miles in length have never yet been built without the expenditure of considerable money, and I fear Mr. Lubansky has cut out for himself a rather tough job, if he hopes to demonstrate, in this instance, that a horse-chestnut is anything but a horse-chestnut.

How Cruiser was Tamed.

Accompanied by one individual alone, a nobleman of undisputable nerve, temper and physical strength, Mr. Rarey proceeded to the encounter. As we heard the story told, his injunctions to his comrade were characteristic enough, "What-ever happens, my lord," said he, "don't you speak or interfere—at least, not till you see me down under his feet, and him worrying me!" This compact made, he resolutely walked into the arena, which consisted of a loose box divided by a half-door of some four feet or more in height. Stopping quietly up to this barrier, he leaned his arm upon it, so that it was just covered by the iron bar that ran along the top, and looked fixedly at the savage he intended to tame. Cruiser—from whom muzzle, head-stall, and such impediments, had been removed—we believe, by some mechanical arrangements, for none dared go near enough to touch him—made his usual dash at the intrepid stranger, to pounce on him as a cat would on a mouse.

Rarey stood perfectly motionless, neither altering his attitude nor the expression of his countenance in the slightest degree. Thinking he had his enemy by the arm, the horse seized and worried at the bare as if he would have bitten it through. Again and again retiring, for an impetus, to the further corner, he rushed at the mysterious stranger, actually screaming in the uncontrollable violence of his rage. Rarey sustaining these successive charges with the same sang froid, that he had shown at the commencement of the engagement.

At length, after more than an hour of this wild scene, with its frantic fury on one side, and its calm scientific superiority on the other, the redoubtable Cruiser, blown, exhausted, dripping with sweat and completely puzzled in his equine mind as to the properties of this figure, which he could no longer believe to be human, came quietly close to it, and true to his nature, wrapped its it was, smelt at it, and touched it with his nose; then Rarey threw open the half door and walked boldly up to him. The last sentence speaks volumes. It was a trait, not of the system perhaps, so much as of the man. But what confidence the man must have had in his system, thus to preserve his equanimity and coolness in a position which to every one but himself would have been of mortal danger. The "salt was now on the bird's tail," and when his own peculiar method had been resorted to, and Cruiser, converted into a quiet, docile, and not particularly showy hack, had been ridden before astonished hundreds, the horse tamer was universally recognized as such, and both the papers and the public expressed themselves satisfied with Mr. Rarey.—The Taming of horses, and Mr. Rarey, in Fraser's Magazine for November.

THE NEW CANADIAN COINAGE.—The Toronto Globe gives a description of the new coin for the Canadian currency, recently sent out from England. The cent is somewhat smaller than the British half-penny, and of a brighter color, some white metal having been mixed with it in order to bring it up to the required value. On one is a beautifully executed medallion of the Queen, an exact copy of that which appears on the English shilling. Between the two rows of beading the words "Victoria Dei Gratia Regina Canada." (The word Canada is disconnected from those preceding it.) The obverse is ornamented with a wreath of maple leaves, and the words "One Cent, 1858." The silver coins are alike in design. The twenty cent pieces are smaller than the English shilling, and ten and five cent pieces are the same size as the American coin of the same value. The former has only one row of beading, and the maple leaves, instead of running all round, are arranged the same way as the roses, shamrock and thistle upon the British money, with a crown dividing the one branch from the other. The letters and figures used are plain, being proportioned to the size of the coin,—the edges are not milled.

THE STATE PRINTING.—The bond of James Ross to execute the public printing for the ensuing two years, was presented to-day, and is, we understand, approved of by the Commissioners. Hon. Charles Dunn is one of the bondsmen.—Madison Journal, of Monday.

SALE OF FORFEITED SCHOOL LANDS.—The sale of forfeited school lands commenced at the Capitol to day. Quite a number of gentlemen, from different parts of the State, are in attendance, and the bidding is spirited.—Madison Jour., 6th.

SELF APPRECIATION.—Dr. Holmes, in the last of his Autocrat papers, says:

"Self appreciation is a slow and gradual process. At first a child thinks he can do everything. I remember when I thought I could lift a house. If I would, only try hard enough. So I began with the hind wheel of a heavy old family coach built like that in which my Lady Bountiful carried little King Pippin, if you happen to remember the illustrations of that story. I lifted with all my might, and the planet pulled down with all its might. The planet beat. After that, my ideas of the difference between my will and my muscular force were more accurately defined. Then came the illusion, that I could, of course, "kick," "screw out," or "polish off" various small boys who had been or might be obnoxious to me. The event of the different "cottos" to which this hypothesis led not uniformly confirming it, another limitation of my possibilities was the consequence. In this way I groped along into a knowledge of my physical relations to the organic and inorganic universe.

A man must be very stupid indeed, if by the time he is fully ripened, he does not know tolerably well what his physical powers are. His weight, height, his general development, his constitutional force, his good or ill looks, he has had time to find out; and he is a fool, if he does not carry a reasonable consciousness of these conditions with him always. It is a little harder with the mind; but some qualities are generally estimated fairly enough by their owners.—Thus a man may be trusted when he says he has a good or bad memory. Not so of his own opinion, of his own judgment or imagination. It is only by a very slow process that he finds out how much or how little of these qualities he possesses. But it is one of the blessed privileges of growing older, that we come to have a much clearer sense of what we can do and what we cannot, and settle down to our work quietly, knowing what our tools are and what we have to do with them."

A COMPANION IN CAPTIVITY.—The prisoner Austin, one of the three men now on trial in the Circuit Court for the grave offence of setting fire to the whole ship Cortes, has now been in confinement, awaiting his trial, since about the first of March last, and to while away the dreary hours of confinement, he some time ago caught a large mouse or a small rat—he looks like both or either—and directing his efforts to taming the wildness of the creature, has now so far succeeded that the little animal has become entirely attached to his fellow-prisoner, and plays about his person and eats with the utmost confidence and good understanding. The rat or mouse attends his master in his daily trips to the Court House, and occasionally scourges from the pocket of Austin's jacket, takes a run over his head and shoulders, takes a look at the court and counsel, and, apparently satisfied that all is right, retires to his retreat. Austin has two or three other companions of the same species now under training; and in this avocation and doing odd jobs of carpenter work, in which he is very expert, is said to pass away his time quite comfortably.—Boston Journal.

GOOD.—During a recent trial at Auburn, the following occurred to vary the monotony of the proceedings:

"Among the witnesses, was one, as verdant a specimen of humanity as one would wish to meet with. After a severe cross-examination, the counsel for the government paused, and then putting on a look of severity, and an ominous shake of the head, exclaimed:

'Mr. Witness, has not an effort been made to induce you to tell a different story.'

'A different story from what I have told, sir?'

'That is what I mean.'

'Yes, sir; several persons have tried to get me to tell a different story from what I have told, but they couldn't.'

'Now, sir, upon your oath, I wish to know who those persons are?'

'Wal, I guess you've tried 'bout as hard as any of them.'

The witness was dismissed, while judge, jury, and spectators, indulged in a hearty laugh."

NERVOUS AND RHEUMATIC AFFECTIONS—HOLLAND BITTERS.—"We have used this medicine ourselves and in many cases with the greatest success. The most celebrated of our German Physicians are recommending it. During this changeable weather, while most persons are troubled with nervous and rheumatic affections, it will be found a valuable remedy."—Staats Zeitung.

A Boy's Trials.

The Springfield Republican, has a capital article on this subject. Here are some extracts:

HIS REGULATION WITH THE "OLD MAN!"

We suppose the first severe trial a boy has to undergo is to submit his will to the old man, whom he is taught to consider his father. To be restrained in doors at night, to be forbidden to go in swimming five times a day, or to be hindered from pinching the rest of the children just for fun, is an interference with natural inalienable rights every way injurious to the feelings. And then when, through over whelming temptation, the boy asserts his independence of parental control and receives a "tanning" with a switch, from a quince bush, either upon his back or his bare feet, it becomes really a very serious thing. We never could see that the smart of an operation like this was assuaged by the affectionate assurance that it was bestowed out of pure love.

SETTING WITH THE GIRLS.

The next great trial of that boy is to be obliged by a cruel master to sit with the girls at school. This usually comes before the development of those undeniable affinities which, in after life, would tend to make the punishment more endurable. To be pointed out as a "gal boy," to be smiled at grimly by the master, who is so far delighted with his own ineffable pleasantry as to give the boys license to laugh aloud; and to be placed by the side of a girl who had no handkerchief, and no knowledge of no mean magnitude. Yet we have seen there and been obliged to "sit up close" with big Rachel, laugh ing and blushing till we came to hate her name. We wonder where the overgrown frow zy creature is now, and what the condition of her head is?

THE FIRST LONG-TAILED.

We do not believe that any boy ever put on his first long tailed coat without a sense of shame. He first twists his back half off, looking at it in the glass, and then when he steps out of doors it seems to him as if all creation was in a broad grin. The sun laughs in the sky; the cows turns to look at him; there are faces at every window; his very shadow mocks him.—When he walks by the cottage where Jane lives he dares not look up for his life. The very boards creak with consciousness of the strange spectacle, and the old pair of pantaloons that stop a light in the garret window nod with derision. If he is obliged to pass a group of boys, the trial assumes its most terrible stage. His legs get all mixed with embarrassment, and the flap of the dangling appendage is felt upon them, moved by the wind of his own agitation; he could not feel worse were it a dishcloth, worn as a badge of disgrace. It is a happy time for him when he gets to church and sits down with his coat tails under him; but he is still apprehensive with one thing, of the Sunday School, and wonders if any of the children will ask him to "swing his long-tailed blue?"

GOING HOME WITH THE GIRLS.

The entrance into society may be said to take place after boyhood has passed away, yet a multitude take the initiative before their boards are presentable. It is a great trial, either to a tender or tough age. For an overgrown boy to go to a door, knowing that there are a dozen girls inside, and to knock or ring, with an absolute certainty that in two minutes all their eyes will be upon him, is a severe test of courage. To go before these girls and make a satisfactory tour of the room, without stepping on their toes, and then to sit down and dispose of one's hands without putting them into one's pockets, is an achievement which few boys can boast. If a boy can get as far as to measure off two yards of tape with one of these girls, and cut it short at each end, he may stand a chance to pass a pleasant evening, but let him not flatter himself that all the trials of the evening are over. There comes at last the breaking up. The dear girls don their hoods and put on their shawls, and look so saucy and mischievous, and unimpressible, as if they did not wish any one to go home with them. Then comes the pinch, and the boy that has the most pluck makes up to the prettiest girl, his heart in his throat, and his tongue clinging to the roof of his mouth, and crooking his elbow, stammers out the words, "Shall I see you home?" She touches her fingers to his arm, and they walk home about a foot apart, looking as awkward as a couple of goslings. As soon as she is safe inside of her own doors, he struts home, and thinks he has really been and gone and done it. Sleep comes to him at last, with dreams of Caroline and calico, and he awakes in the morning and finds the door of life open to him, and the pigs squealing for breakfast.

CONCLUDING REFLECTIONS.

We have now passed over churning and learning the catechism, because we are fearful of making this article too long, although we might have talked of butter that would not be persuaded to come, and the perplexities of a lite ary turn of mind, and a head that measured seven and a quarter when asked what the chief end of man hood was. Boyhood is a green passage in man's experience in more cases than one. It is a pleasant thing to think over and laugh about now, though it was serious enough then. Many of our present trials are as ridiculous as those which now touch the risibles in the recollections, and when we get to the other world and look upon this, and upon the infancy of the soul through which we passed here, we have no doubt we shall grin over the trials that we experienced when we lost our fortunes, when our mills were swept away or burned, and when we didn't get elected to the Legislature. Men are but boys of larger growth.

BUCKWHEAT AS FOOD.—M. Isidore Pierre has recently been making some investigations of buckwheat from which we condense the following interesting result. Buckwheat cakes are equal to pure white bread as regards the phosphates or bone making material and nitrogenous principles which they contain, and are superior to bread in fatty matter. The general yield of buckwheat when cooked is about three times the weight of the flour used, showing that such flour will retain forty to forty-one per cent of water. Between different batches of ground buckwheat there is a great dissimilarity of composition—one batch containing nearly seven times as much nitrogen, twenty-five times the amount of phosphates and a hundred and fifteen times as much fatty matter as another. The bran is the richest portion of the buckwheat, but cannot be digested by weak stomachs. The finest qualities of buckwheat flour and the white mill dust especially, are very suitable for children and persons in delicate health, while the coarse varieties require a strong stomach and much exercise for their perfect digestion.

TO THE PUBLIC.
In answer to the numerous letters addressed to me on the subject of the Mustang Liniment, I would say that I have had no connection with that article for several years. It was invented by me, and while put up under my control and superintendence, was universally approved by the public, as the best liniment in the world. In 1855 I sold out my interest in it to other parties, and since that time it has passed through the hands of several persons, none of whom have been connected with it as manufacturers of inferior and cheaper articles, and thus to entirely destroy its value as a medical remedy, trading for success in selling to its former highly established reputation. To prevent people here after from being so imposed upon, I am induced to substitute other articles in its composition for those in the original prescription, so that the Mustang Liniment now vended possesses no one of the distinguishing characteristics of the genuine article, as originally invented and manufactured by me. These caveats, to enable themselves with more facility to foist their worthless and injurious trash on the public, use my name as the cover, calling it the only genuine liniment, and cautioning the public to beware of any other brand's liniment as an imposition. This is done with a view of spelling prejudice against "BRAGG'S ARCTIC LINIMENT," the genuine article, manufactured by me, and possessing all the virtues of the original Mustang, with some improvements—the result of experience and later discoveries—and must ere long drive Burgess & Burrowes, which first is compounded of turpentine, Oliver T. Bragg, and Michael Burrowes. This article is superior in many respects to the Mustang, when it was put up pure and in good faith, and is immeasurably superior to the article now vended as the Mustang Liniment. It is also the only liniment manufactured to which my name is appended by my authority or consent. In conclusion, I cannot hold myself responsible for any of the evil results of using the Mustang Liniment now vended, and especially caution the public against any connection with its proprietorship or manufacture.
Respectfully, A. M. BRAGG, M. D.

MRS. L. S. Lewis Rose, a young married lady, and her little daughter, on their return to the east from a visit to an augury district, was taken down with fever and ague. She took large doses of Quinine, Spirit of Mendoreri, Chelcogue, &c., but no relief was obtained. Every day at 11 A. M., the chills would come on, and continue till 2 P. M.; then Fever would set in and continue until night, then Hysterics would come on. The young lady being one of our acquaintances, we regret ted to hear of her illness. R. R. R. was sent for back, rub a head, body, arms, feet, and the palms of her hands, were well rubbed, and in a few minutes she was free from chills.—Three of Radway's Ready Relief were given; in six hours they operated—one dose when taken, and the return of the Fever and Ague. One Regulator each day was given the little girl, and the same treatment with the Relief. She has been a return of Chills since the second day of R. R. treatment.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL, Wednesday Evening, Dec. 8, 1858.

MONEY MATTERS.—There is very little animation in the money market at present, and no deviation in rates. Exchange has become firm again and is now selling steadily at 1 per cent premium. There is a little more ease in the Currency market, but the Banks are discounting for their customers, only, to a limited extent, at the usual rate. Outside of the Banks there is not much doing, and rates remain as before reported.

COMMERCIAL.—With light receipts the wheat market remains firm and without any material change in prices. The millers are paying 83@85c for extra club, and No. 1 is selling at from 72 to 75c, for fair to choice samples.—There was one sale of 8,000 bushels in store this afternoon at 74c. The roads throughout the interior have been in a very bad condition along back, but wheeling is quite good now, and with a continuance of the present buoyancy in the market, larger receipts of wheat may be looked for. It is not probable, however, that the prices which are now being paid for wheat could be maintained were the supply much larger. Oats remain scarce and firm, and there is a little more enquiry for shelled corn. There is no change in barley or rye.

Provisions are more active, holders being a little more active to take up current offers. There was one sale of 1,000 bbls of mess pork to-day at $16, deliverable in January and February, at the seller's option. A payment of $5,00 down was made on the purchase. We also note a couple of smaller cash sales at the same price for immediate delivery.

The weather is very favorable for the hog trade, and receipts keep up well. There was a little more firmness in the market to-day, and in some instances a slight advance was obtained on yesterday's quotations. Heavy hogs sold at $5,90@$6,12½, and light ones @$5@5,60. The market closed with an upward tendency, some sellers asking $6,15@$6,25 for heavy hogs.

The receipts of dressed hogs at Chicago, for the week ending Tuesday, add up 4,140 head, and the sales yesterday show a range in prices from $5,75@$6,25, the latter for hogs dividing on 180 to 200 lbs, and the Press & Tribune quotes the market closing firm at these quotations.

The Gazette, of Tuesday, has the following in relation to the Cincinnati hog and provision market of the previous day:

The weather was quite favorable to-day for pork-packing, and the receipts were large, but the latter did not have the effect anticipated. Buyers, it is true, were not very free, but holders were firm, did not press sales, and but little was offered. Selling prices ranged from the extreme range was $6,20@7,20—the former for very light, and the latter for a lot averaging 260 lbs. Buyers at 27 were not numerous even for heavy hogs, although these at $7,27 would scarce be offered to-day at a different price, and for 10c the averages it was difficult to obtain an offer of over $6,75, but at if parties were to be found, occasionally, willing to pay more, and late in the day $68 head, average 180 lbs, sold at $6,90, and lots averaging 180 to 170 lbs averages at $6,25 to $6,50, and 180 to 210 do $6,75@7 with no days looking up, and buyers, as a general thing, hesitating. The receipts since Saturday comprised 14,500 head, which is the total for the season, according to figures previous given, as follows:

Previously reported	210,161
Last 48 hours	14,500
Total	224,661

It is probable the full report to be published on Wednesday morning will give a total for the season to that time, of 225,000. The receipts at Louisville up to Sunday night were 231,736. The actual arrivals at the two places, foot up, so far, as follows:

Cincinnati, as above	224,661
Louisville, to Sunday night	231,736
Total	456,397
Whole business last year	668,000
To be made up	211,603

The weather this evening continues favorable, the mercury indicating 34 deg. The packers are full, and business in the way of killing and packing is decidedly brisk.

Increased buoyancy was observable in the provision market, but the advanced pretensions of holders checked sales. Mess pork was salable at $17,50, but holders generally asked $17,75@18.

The following are the principal receipts by Railroad to-day:

Flour, bbls	518	Pork, lbs	116,655
